

Full Bloom: a Capital Campaign

Creating Community @ Piti's Bloom Center for Arts & Ecology in Charlemont

Lend Your Hand!
ptco.org/donate

Following our successful purchase of a barn and 42 acres in Charlemont, we now have the opportunity to transform the barn into a multi-use performance venue and build housing and classroom space on the property. Bloom is the name of this new center.

Phase 1:

Transform the Barn

Adding septic, lighting, bathrooms, farm store, insulation, parking, wheelchair ramp and more!

Phase 2:

Building eco-friendly accommodations

four units (two for families, two for individuals)

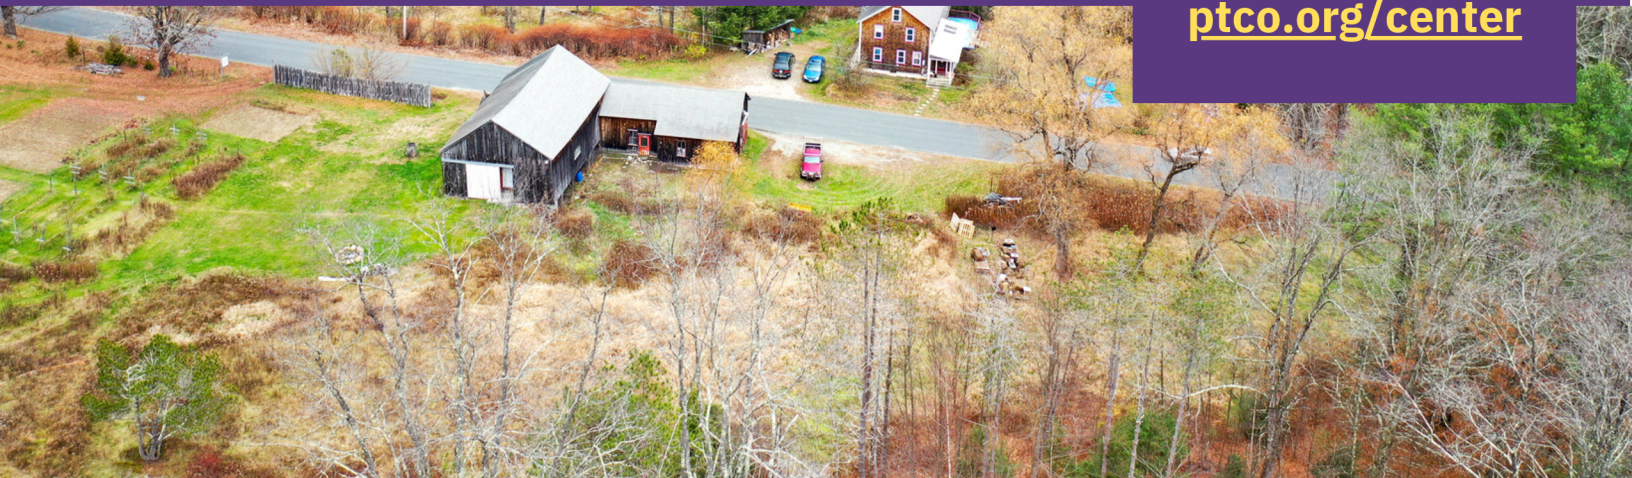

Housing for who?

- workshop participants
- tourists/guests
- artists in residence
- caretakers
- apprentices/interns

What do you want to see at the Center?

Take a 5-minute survey:

ptco.org/center

The photo above was taken close to the building site which overlooks the valley and the Center. Founded in 2004, Piti engages with over 5,000 people annually – especially youth in schools – through ecologically-minded theatre productions and residencies.

Consider the benefits of a robust Center to...

- Local economy: More tourism, more jobs
- Youth: engagement with arts and nature, 14 children are already registered for our spring Bee & Blossom program
- Pollinators: pollinator sanctuary and educational apiary
- Community: more arts, more coming together = more resilience
- Local Farmers and Artisans: an "art-farm" stand, already in place
- Arts groups and Educators: an accessible Charlemont venue

"Piti" (pronounced "pea-tea") is a word from ancient India meaning "joy."

Full Bloom

Building a Center for Arts & Ecology in Charlemont

Recognition Opportunities

- Donors of $1,000 and up will be recognized on a wooden plaque inside the barn.
- Donors will also be recognized in our e-blasts, on social media, and on our website.
- Additional naming/recognition opportunities available for major donors - just ask!

Learn more!
ptco.org/center

Would you like to visit the site? Have questions?
Call (413) 625 - 6569 or email jonathan@ptco.org

Get in on the Barn Floor! By becoming an early partner, you are laying the foundation for growth benefitting local children, families and visitors to our region.